THE SOVEREIGN RULE OF SOUTH CAROLINA Views of Southern Laws, Life, and Hospitality. Written in Charleston, S. C., by F. C. Adams.

Written in Charleston, S. C., by F. C. Adams.

THE above work forms a beautiful 12mo volume of over 300 pages, small pica. Price—in paper, 50 cents; muslin, 75 cents. The usual discount to the Trade. Orders solicited. Copies sent by mail, prepaid, any distance under 3,000 miles, for 61 cents.

The above work is a delineation of the scenes and incidente connected with the imprisonment, in 1852 of Manuel Pereira, steward of the British brig Jan son, in the jail of Charleston, S. C.

The following notice of this work is copied from the National Era of February 17:

"The above is the title of a work now in press founded upon that infamous statute of South Carolina, by which her citizens claim a right to imprison colorea seamen, of all nations, and even those cast upon their shores in distress. We have perused the book in advance of its publication, and find that it gives a lifelike picture of Pereira, the vessel in which he sailed the storms she encountered, and her wrecked condition when brought into the port of Charleston, S. C.; together with the imprisonment of Pereira, several sea men belonging to the New England States, and two French seamen; the prison regimen, character of the Charleston police, and the mendacity of certain officials, who make the law a medium of peculation. The work is replete with incidents of Southern life and character, pointing Southerners to the things that call for correction at their own hands, with a force that cannot be mistaken. The work is written by one who has taken a prominent part in the affairs of the South, and cannot fail to interest alike the general reader commercial man, and philanthropist."

NEW BOOK BY REV. JACOB ABBOTT "ROLLO ON THE ATLANTIC," REAUTIFULLY illustrated with original designs

BEAUTIFULLY illustrated with original designs.

"Rollo on the Atlantic" is the first book of a series to be published under the general title of Rollo's Tour in Europe.

Extract from the Preface:

"The books are intended to be books of instruction, rather than of mere amusement; and, in perusing them, the reader may feel assured that all the information which they contain, not only in respect to the countries visited, and to the customs, usages, and modes of life that are described, but also in regard to the general character of the incidents and adventures that the young travellers meet with, is in most strict accordance with fact. The main design of the narrative is thus the communication of useful knowledge; and everything which they contain, except what is strictly personal, in relation to the actors in the story, may be depended upon as exactly and scrupulously true." ENGLISH LITERATURE OF THE 19TH CENTURY. New Edition.

C. & J. BIDDLE, No. 6 South Fifth street, Philadelphia, have recently published a new,
stereotype edition of English Literature of the Nineteenth Century, sets before them, prepared under her own superintendence, and the rules for making which she herein sets forth.

Prof. C's two volumes of English Literature are now extensively used as text-books in colleges, academies, and the higher class of seminaries, throughout the United States. The following opinions relative to "English Literature of the Nineteenth Contury," are selected from a large number equally commendatory of the work:

From Prof. Cleveland's 'English Literature of the Nineteenth Contury," are selected from a large number equally commendatory of the work:

From Prof. Cleveland's 'English Literature of the Nineteenth Century' an appropriate sequel to his 'Compendium.' The author has shown the same just and delicate appreciation of literary excellence in this, as in the former volume; and, as it reaches down to our times, it will be still more interesting to a large portion of the public, and especially to the young. Few persons can understand what an amount of reading, thought, nice discrimination, and laborious or densation of knowledge, are requisite to the production of such a work; and just in proportion as men toil more extensively in this field, will be the estimate they will put upon this result of the author's labors."

From George B. Emerson, Esq., of Boston.

From George B. Emerson, Esq., of Boston.

"I have examined your 'English Literature of the Nineteenth Century,' and I like it exceedingly It is extremely well and fairly done. The biographical notices are just and discriminating; and, while they are long ecough to gratify the curiosity we have to know something of an author, they are so spirited as to awaken a desire to know more. The selections are admirable. I have adopted the work as a text book for my first class, overy individual of which is now preparing, under its guidance, to give a faller account of the writings of some one chosen author."

From Rev. B. P. Aydelett, D. D., of Cincinnati.

"I have examined with much care, and still greater pleasure, and, I trust, not a little profit, your 'English Literature of the Nineteenth Century.'

It is, I believe, the richest collection of gems in our language. There is nothing in it I would omit, and yet it is not too large for popular use. Considering the very brief limits to which you were obliged to confine yourself, I am surprised at the fullness and richness of your biographical details. Your most difficult and delicate task, however, was the critical judgment to be passed up n each author; and here I think you have been very happy—discriminating and just, and yet kind. * But I would feel that whatever I have said about the volume, however true, ought to be considered as of little worth, could I not add—as I cheerfully do—a stroy gestiment to its high moral tone and eminently Christian spirit. The general reader exampet fail to be interested, the student profited, the scholar delighted, and the man of picty pleased, with your 'English Literature of the Nineteenth Century.'

For sale by the publishers, at Philadelphia; by C. M. Saxton, New York; Phillips, Sampson, & Co. Boston; Cushings & Bailey, Baltimore; John B. Steel, New Orleans; H. W. Derby, Cincinnati; Jewett & Co., Cleveland; and by booksellers generally.

REFORMATORY PAPER FOR CHILDREN. THE JUVENILE INSTRUCTOR.

Edited by Uncle Lucius, Syracuse, N. Y. Edited by Uncle Lucius, Syracuse, N. Y.

THE want of a paper for children, of a reformatory character, has long been felt. The juvenile papers of our land do not meet the demands of the community. They please the eye and interest the reader, but do not instruct and enlighten the mind with reference to the great sins of the day. Reformers! The Juvenile Instructor is intended to meet this demand. It is the paper for children—for Sabbath schools and Day schools.

The Instructor is published every other week, or twenty-six numbers per year. A new volume commences January 5, 1854. A Corresponding Editor has been secured. Her writings for children are already known and admired by many. Illustrations will be given in every number. No reasonable expense will be spared to make it attractive. PROSPECTUS OF THE PROHIBITIONIST.

"If any State doesns the retail and internal traffic in ardent spirits injurious to its citizens, and calculated to produce idleness, vice, or debauchery, I see nothing in the Constitution of the United States to prevent it from regulating or restraining the traffic, or from prohibiting it altogether, if it thinks proper."

Chief Justice Taney.

ON or before the 1st of January, 1854, the Execu-tive Committee of the New York State Temper-rance Society will issue the first number of a Month-ly Temperance Journal, under the title of "Tak Pro-silitationist."

ITS SIZE.—It will be printed on a double medium sheet, making eight quarto pages, of four columns to a page; and, excluding advertisements, each number will contain an amount of reading matter equal at least to that furnished by our larger-sized daily journals, or to that of an ordinary duodecimo volume of 150 pages.

nals, or to that of an ordinary duodecimo volume of 150 pages.

Its Onject.—To advocate the Cause of Temperance generally, and especially the Logislative Prohibition of the Traffic in Intoxicating Beverages, to prepare the minds of the masses for such Prohibition, by showing its expediency and Necessity, and to secure, by all the influence it may legitimately exert, the vigorous enforcement of Prohibitory Laws when obtained.

Its Proposition of the proposition of t vigorous enforcement of Prohibitory Laws when obtained.

Its Firld.—Dealing with general principles, with arguments alike applicable to every community where the traffic exists and with facts illustrative of these arguments and principles, the paper will be National in its spirit, in its scope, in its purpose, and, we trust, it will be National in its circulation and influence. Such is our aim and expectation. We desire to see the Principle of Prohibition established in State after State, till it becomes the recognised policy of the Nation. It is our ambition to bear a part in this great work, and to this end The Prohibitories is established, not as the organ of a society merely, but of a Gener Reportance of the Prohibitor outside of the Pemperance Ranks. Their price almost necessarily restricts them to the friends of the cause. The Prohibitories is designed for circulation (instead of tracts) among the indifferent and the hostile. For this purpose it is put at a price so low as to enable the friends of Temperance in every school district, by combined action and at an inconsiderable expense, to place a copy in each family that will consent to receive it.

THE GREAT AMERICAN TEMPERANCE TALE MRS. BEN DARBY;

THE WEAL AND WOE OF SOCIAL LIFE. One Volume 12mo, $1.

THE object of this tale is to exhibit in different phases, in high tife and low life, the accursed effects of intemperate drinking, the bane of social life, the curse of civilized man. The characters are well and sharply drawn, and the various scenes are described with much spirit and graphic effect. * *

We are disposed to regard the book as the best of its kind that has yet appeared.—Boston Traveller.

It is not often that we read a story of any kind, but we have broken our practice, and have read this book not only with pleasure, but with a gratification which but very few novels have ever afforded us. It is a quiet and simple, but still striking and effective picture of American social life.—Cheago Tribune.

A thrilling picture of the effects of that infernal bane of social life, intemperance.—Richmond Palladium.

The style is attractive and fascinating; there is a freshness and originality about it, that is very pleasing. * * * One of its chief merits is the excellence of its conversations.—Enquirer.

Has so many thrilling passages and well drawn characters, that you read it with absorbed attention. It cannot fail to achieve for Mrs. Collins an enviable popularity. She takes us with her to the drunkard's home, and tells of the hunger and the foar, the toti and the suffering, that are there. She paints, with a woman's delicate skill, the meek patience, the long abused, but unchanging love of the drunkard's wife, touches the deepest chords of the heart, and makes them vibrate with pity and with indignation. Christian Herald.

Though Mrs. Collins has already hosts of admirers of her literary productions, this work, we predict, will increase that number ten-fold, and give her a reputation worthy of her high talents.—New Albany Tribune.

The style is easy, natural, beautiful, chaste, and at times very eloquent. We would commend it especially to young ladies, that they may see to what dangers they are exposed, in forming alliances with the fashionable in high life. — Ohio Organ.

A deeply interesting and powerful work. It vividly portrays some of the terrific exploits of strong drink in both high and low life. Nor are such scenes as it depicts either imaginary or few. Let this book circulate. It has a beneficent aim, and is the vehicle of admirably old and most salulary lessons. — Presbyterian.

We know of no passage, anywhere, more uniquely beautiful, more intensely absorbing, more overpowering in the pathetic, than the thirty-fourth chapter. It is indeed a gem. Such a Paper is demanded by the Farming Community.

Such a Paper is demanded by the Farming Community.

The publishers confidently believe that the agriculturists of this country are becoming too much awake to the demands of their own calling to be longer satisfied with the slow monthly issues of a paper professedly devoted to their interests, or to trust alone to the irresponsible extracts in a "farmer's column," so popular just now in papers chiefly devoted to business, politics, or literature; and they look for the united support of all the intelligent farmers of this country in their continued effort to furnish a weekly paper of a high and reliable character, which shall be progressive, and at the same time-cautious and conservative in all its teachings.

Essentially an Agricultural Paper.

The Agriculturist will not depart from its legitimate sphere to catch popular favor by lumbering up its pages, with the silly, fictitious literature, and light, miscellancous matter of the day; it has a higher aim; and a small part only of its space will be devoted to matters not immediately pertaining to the great business of Agriculture. The household as well as the out-door work of the farm will receive a due share of attention. The humbugs and nostrous affoat in the community will be tried by reliable scientific rules, and their worthlessness exposed. It is the aim of the publishers to keep this paper under the guidance of those who will make it a standard work, which shall communicate to its readers only that which is safe and reliable.

An Independent Journal.

An Independent Journal.

The American Agriculturist stands upon its own merits; and the truthfulness, zoal, and ability, which it brings to the support of the interests of the farmer. It is untrammeled by any collateral business connections whatever; nor is it the organ of any clique, or the puffing machine of any man or thing. Thoroughly independent in all points, its ample pages are studiously given alone to the support and improvement of the great agricultural class.

Editorial Department.

The American Agriculturist is under the editorial supervision of Mr. A. B. Allen, its principal editor for the past ten years, and Mr. Orange Judd. A. M., a thoroughly practical farmer and agricultural chemist.

They will be assisted by Prof. Nash, who has been for a long time one of the most successful farmers of
